The Storm.

Monday's thunderstorm was one of the worst visiting this section for years. Locally the lightning did little damage though some minor trouble is reported.

Damage to the roads by the great rainfall is estimated at several thousand dollars, one piece of road in Barton having been practically destroyed. This is the road leading from the Orleans road to the Burton hill road. Much of the way on this piece of highway there is no roadbed left, the torrents of water coming down the hill having gullied out places to the depth of six, eight and ten feet and even deeper. Estimates of the cost of repairing the road is set from $1000 to $5000 and just what is to be done has not been determined. Other minor washouts were made and the railroad tracks near Orleans were impassable for two or three hours where fills were taken out.

Streets in Orleans and Barton were damaged to some extent. The severe thunder storm of Monday afternoon wrought much havoc in Newport, the basement of the Express and Standard getting several inches of water.

The lightning killed three cows for George Herrick, struck the house of Chas. A. Clark on Mt. Vernon street, tearing a large hole through the roof, into the kitchen, letting the water from the roof into the house. It also struck the Akin cottage at the Bluffs, scattering things about and splintering the boards somewhat. Mrs. Percy who was in the cottage at the time, received a slight shock.

A cattle shed at the trotting park was also hit and burned.

JAIL OR FINES FOR ALL.

One Is Sentenced to Newport Jail for Nine Months.

The parties implicated in the smuggling of opium that was seized by customs officers at North Troy March 5th, were arraigned in United States district court at Montpelier June 10 and pleaded guilty. Sentences were imposed as follows: Henry Ponton of Farnham and E. Richard of Montpelier, to pay a fine of $100 each; Jos. Guertin of Montreal, to serve one year in Washington county jail, and E. M. Warren of Washington, D. C., to serve nine months in Orleans county jail.

The first case disposed of was that against Edwin Warren, who has been a slave to opium for years. He went to Canada and purchased what cost him about $1,000 worth of dope. It was this shipment of dope that got three others into trouble. This opium would probably have sold in this country for several thousand dollars.

Warren has been in the Newport jail for three months, and W. A. Lord, his attorney, gave a short statement of his case, in which he told the court of Mr. Warren's effort for reformation and that in the last three weeks in the jail he has not used any opium at all and the attorney asked that Warren be recommitted to that institution so that he might perhaps recover entirely from the slavery of the dope.

The court gave Warren nine months in the Newport jail. Joseph Guertin of Montreal did not fare as well. He claimed he had been out of work and that he was to have received $50 for taking a grip of what he supposed was liquor to Newport; that on the train he gave this to Edward Richard, which got that man in trouble. He claimed it was his first transportation, but the court stated in sentencing the man that he believed Guertin was in the business for the profit. Guertin was arrested near North Troy when the train was searched. Judge Howe gave Guertin the choice between Atlanta, Ga., and Montpelier jail. The respondent selected Montpelier and was given a year.

Edward Richard said he received the grip of what he supposed was liquor from Guertin and that he did not know that it contained opium. If he had he would not have taken it. He admitted that it had been a common practice for trainmen to carry liquor across the line. He said he did not think the crime of bringing liquor was as bad as bringing opium in. He was fined $100.

Henry Ponton, who was the fireman on the train when Richard asked to carry the grip by placing it on the tender attached to the engine, told a similar story to Richard, that he did not know what was in the grip. The court imposed $100 fine on him. In the last two cases the court stated that it was believed these men had not been in opium transportation before. Ponton had $311 in the bank, while a Dr. Rosey paid Richard's fine.

Albert Schipitzer and Maxwell Auerbach, of New York, charged with smuggling about $15,000 worth of dope from Canada to the United States, entered pleas of guilty before Judge Howe and each was fined $500 and sentenced to one year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary.

These men were captured by federal officers in Newport February 26 with several suitcases filled with morphine and kindred drugs. The drugs were estimated to be worth $100,000 in New York.

IN TWO DISTRICTS.

New Health Law Splits County. St. Johnsbury and Morrisville Doctors Our Officers.

The Vermont State Board of Health announces the division of the state into ten sanitary districts, according to the district health officer law enacted by the last legislature, and also the appointment of nine of the district health officers. Under the provisions of this act, all physicians will be required to placard houses in which occur cases of communicable disease coming to their attention. Placards for this purpose will be placed in the offices of the town clerks by physicians and others. Heads of families in whose household occur cases of communicable disease which are not attended by physicians will be required to report immediately to the district health officer and also under his orders secure suitable placard from the town clerk, which must be placed on the house.

The law providing for this system goes into effect July 1, and arrangements are made for its operation in all districts.

The selection of district health officers has been made with great care by the state board of health, over 40 applications having been considered for the positions.

Orleans county towns are included in districts number two and three. District number two includes the following towns in the county as well as a number outside as named, with Dr. W. T. Slayton of Morrisville, district officer. Dr. Slayton is the originator of the bill in the last session of our legislature, creating this system.

Dr. William T. Slayton is a graduate of Harvard Medical school in 1896, and from Guy's hospital, London, England. Practiced in Hyde Park and Morristown since 1897, serving as health officer in both towns. Commissioned captain in the medical corps of the United States army, with special training at Camp Meade, Maryland. He is also a member of the state board of health.

The towns in district No. 2 are: Albany, Coventry, Craftsbury, Glover, Greensboro, Irasburg, Jay, Lowell, Newport City, Newport Town, Troy and Westfield in Orleans county, and Belvidere, Cambridge, Eden, Elmore, Hardwick, Hyde Park, Johnson, Morristown, Stannard, Stowe, Walden, Waterville and Woodbury, outside.

Dr. Victor P. Genge of St. Johnsbury will preside over district number three. Dr. Genge has practiced in Newport. He was twenty months in service in the United States army, 14 months of which were spent in the hospitals of England and France; three months in charge of sanitation in camp; three months in sanitary officer at Oswego, Syracuse and Garden City, N. Y.; six months in charge of all contagious work in United States hospital No. 35, Winchester, England. This hospital treated practically all contagious cases arising among the American troops stationed in or passing through England. Eight months in charge of Air service hospital at the front and received citation in general orders for efficient work.

District No. 3 includes Orleans county towns as follows: Barton, Brownington, Charlestown, Derby, Holland, Morgan and Westmore and the following towns outside the county: Averill, Barre, Bloomfield, Brighton, Brunswick, Burke, Canaan, Concord, East Haven, Ferdinand, Granby, Guildhall, Lemington, Lewis, Lunenburg, Lyndon, Kirby, Maidstone, Newark, Norton, Peacham, St. Johnsbury, Sheffield, Sutton, Victory, Waterford, and Wheelock.

Vermont is one of the three states in the Union to inaugurate the district health officer system this year, the other states being Ohio and Alabama. Several other states have such an organization in prospect and it is probable that the new system will gradually extend.

The Vermont organization is, however, unique in several important details and the whole country is therefore looking to this state for demonstration of the benefits of such an organization.

County G. A. R. Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Orleans County Veterans' association was held in Newport on Flag day, Saturday, June 14, in the G. A. R. hall in that city.

The business of the association was taken up at 11 o'clock when the president, Josiah Grout, called the meeting to order and the reports of A. C. Sleeper, secretary-treasurer, were read and approved. Election of officers then took place, Albert Webster of Barton being elected president, O. P. Dunham of Orleans, vice president, and E. G. Colliston of Barton, secretary and treasurer.

The W. R. C. of Newport served dinner to the comrades present and the "boys" did full justice to the ample laden tables.

At the afternoon session called to order by Mr. Grout at 1.30 o'clock, the president made appropriate remarks regarding the league of nations and remarks were made by Rev. H. T. Coontz of Newport. Mrs. Cunningham then rendered a medley selection on the piano and Rev. L. A. Edwards spoke regarding the position the veterans of the Civil war took in the unity of the republic. Remarks were also enjoyed by Revs. A. J. Allen and Cunningham, and a quartet sang.

Adjournment was taken to meet next year on June 14, at Irasburg. The secretary of the association pays special respects to Mrs. A. C. Sleeper of Newport, who has been a strong and continuous champion of the wives of the veterans and the flag, and who is now sick, hoping for her speedy and complete recovery.

Congregationalists at North Craftsbury.

The 79th annual meeting of the Orleans association of Congregational churches was held at North Craftsbury, Thursday, June 12th.

Opening devotional services were led by Rev. C. E. Southard, Coventry, and Rev. R. A. Hamilton of Orleans offered prayer. At 11 o'clock the association was called to order by the registrar and upon motion Rev. R. A. Hamilton was elected moderator.

The registrar read the records of the last meeting, which were amended and approved and Rev. Robert Lawton of Island Pond was elected scribe.

The roll of the churches was called and 14 churches responded. Upon motion all pastors present not members of the association, but serving our churches were elected corresponding members of the association for the day.

The moderator nominated and the association elected the following committees: Business committee, F. W. Baldwin, Mrs. M. L. Pearson, Rev. Carl J. Peterson; committee on appointments, Rev. L. A. Edwards, M. Calkins, Rev. W. G. Macfarlane.

C. A. Wood of Newport was re-elected treasurer and Judge Spear of Newport was re-elected auditor.

Words of welcome were spoken by the pastor of the church, Rev. C. J. Peterson, and responded to by the moderator, Rev. R. A. Hamilton.

Rev. W. S. Beard, D. D., of Boston, Rev. O. Cary, D. D., of Japan and Rev. C. J. Merrill, upon motion of Rev. C. J. Peterson, were elected corresponding members of the association.

An address, "A Gospel for a Working Community," was given by Rev. C. E. Hayward of North Troy, closing the afternoon session.

A splendid dinner was served in the church vestry to about 100 delegates and visitors.

At 1.30 o'clock, p. m., devotional services were led by Rev. G. W. Nims, followed by a report of the registrar.

In the absence of C. A. Wood, treasurer, Rev. L. A. Edwards read his report, which was accepted and adopted. Rev. L. A. Edwards reported for the committee on appointments as follows:

Place of next meeting, Island Pond. Delegate to National Council, W. H. Gilpin of Barton. Alternate, J. R. Akin, Newport.

Apportionment committee, Rev. C. E. Hayward, chairman, R. W. Spear, Mrs. J. F. Kendrick.

Deacons to serve at communion, J. C. Wilson, North Craftsbury; C. H. Lannan, Irasburg; William Richmond, Newport; C. E. Cutler, Barton. Report accepted and adopted.

Rev. L. A. Edwards gave notice that at the next annual meeting of the association he would move that the constitution of the association be so amended as to provide for the election of a moderator at the preceding annual meeting. Upon motion, the following were elected a committee on revision of the constitution of the association and were instructed to report at the next meeting of the association: Rev. L. A. Edwards, Dea. F. W. Baldwin, Rev. Robert Lawton.

Under the general subject of "The Church as Character Builder," Rev. R. A. Hamilton of Orleans gave an address on "Is Character-Building the Church's Fundamental Business?" This address was followed by another on "The Church's Relation to Other Character-Building Institutions—The School, The Home," by Rev. C. W. Carroll of East Charlestown.

The association sermon, an exposition of Paul's Epistle to Philemon, was preached by Rev. W. G. Macfarlane of Westfield.

Communion service was conducted by Rev. G. W. Nims of West Glover, and Rev. L. A. Edwards of Newport, assisted by the following deacons, J. C. Wilson, C. H. Lannan, William Richmond and C. E. Cutler.

The Ladies' Missionary meeting was led by Mrs. E. W. Barron of Barton, and was addressed by Rev. W. S. Beard, D. D., and Rev. O. Cary, D. D., followed by supper.

The evening praise service was led by Rev. C. E. Southard.

The apportionment committee asked leave to amend their report by adding the following item:

Preacher of next association sermon, Rev. F. E. Davison of Derby. Alternate, Rev. Leroy Rice of Derby Line.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That the thanks of the association be tendered to the Congregational church of Craftsbury and to Rev. Carl J. Peterson, its pastor, for their cordial greeting and bountiful hospitality shown to the members of this association.

That we recommend that the usual assessment from this association be paid by Rev. W. S. Beard, D. D., secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary society of Boston; "Some Character Building in Vermont," by Sec. Rev. C. C. Merrill, of Burlington, and "The Chance on the Foreign Field to Build Character," by Rev. O. Cary, D. D., of Japan.

The convention was well attended and from every standpoint, an excellent convention.

COVENTRY

Mrs. Lizzie Thurber died Tuesday. There will be a short service at A. D. Thurber's home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The remains will be taken to East Burke for burial. Further notice next week.

23 DIPLOMAS GIVEN.

Barton Academy Closes Most Successful Year with Unusually Fine Program.

Unreported functions of commencement week begin with the grade entertainment on Wednesday evening of last week when 150 grade pupils entertained a crowded house in Seaver's hall, with song, drill and playlet.

The first number was a chorus, "Baby Land," by the children of the first three grades, followed by a flag drill by 12 boys of the lower grades and a hoop drill by eight girls from the first grade. These numbers drew generous applause. The "Sweet Briar Dell" dialogue and May party made a playlet of unusual interest and those taking part in it as follows: dramatized the Dutch doll dance by eight couples of little ones acting out the words of a song by Mrs. Ruth Webster, was also an especially pleasing number.

Following a chorus song by the three upper grades, the boys of these grades gave a sun-flower drill, which was well done. The rest of the entertainment, except an excellent rose drill by 16 girls was in the form of a nature play in which a song by Madeline Flanders and Harold Lahue was a hit. The "We Believe" creed contained much that was worth remembering.

Certainly the entertainment was a great success.

The graduation exercises Thursday evening were given before a crowded house in Seaver's hall. Following a selection by the orchestra Rev. M. A. Turner offered a word of prayer and Ivah A. Corley gave the salutatory, followed by an essay on "Knots," by Neil M. Gardiner. Both numbers received hearty applause and the subject matter of both was of real worth.

The essay, "For Value Received, I Promise to Pay," by Elgie M. Warner was one intending to make persons think and rightly received recognition from the audience. Florence L. Blood played a piano solo, "Rondo Capriccioso" by Mendelssohn, as her number on the program. The composition is one requiring skill and rare ability. The essay of Ross Wright on "The Conquest of the Air," clearly showed the wonderful development of air travel in the past two decades and brought many interesting points regarding air craft to the attention of his hearers.

The essay on "The Women of Shakespeare," by Marion T. Young was a difficult one to give but Miss Young handled the situation brilliantly.

Hale B. Shedd as valedictorian, called the attention of her classmates to the tasks ahead with the challenge of their class motto, "Forward," to drive them on, and paid proper tribute to teachers, school officials and the public, back of it all for the opportunity offered the graduates. The class ode was repeated by Marjorie E. Nelson, its author, and then was sung by the class.

Prin. Bates then announced that the diplomas which had usually been handed the graduates at that time, had been framed and were hung about the hall as a part of the excellent decorations, arranged by A. Mayland Clough, one of the 23 graduates, whose names follow:

George Savin Carter
Arthur Mayland Clough, Jr.
Ivah Arlene Corley—Second Honors
Perley Ralph Drew
Albert Watkins Eastman
Hortense Mildred Elliott
Neil Madison Gardiner
Gladys Helena Hinton
Helen Eleanor Johnson
Marjorie Elsie King
Vera Irene Leland
Raymond John Longley
Oliver Angie Metcalf
Marjorie Elizabeth Nelson
Bertha Diana Owen
Jean Irene Salmon
Hale Belle Shedd—First Honors
Evelyn Mary Thorp
Elgie Mae Warner
Robert Taylor Watkins
Ross Theodore Wright
Marian Theresa Young
Prin. Bates also presented University of Vermont scholarships valued at $100 each to the boy and the girl in the class ranking the highest in their studies. The recipients were Miss Shedd and Mr. Carter.

Music for the graduation exercises and dance following, which was largely attended and greatly enjoyed, was furnished by the New Harmony orchestra. The selections rendered during the evening were of very high order and brought enthusiastic applause from the audience.

The following students were given books because of the marked improvement they had made in all of their high school work since March first, last:

Beatrice Labor, "Peking Dust."
Bernice King, a volume of Browning's poems.
Lisle Bane, "International Ideals."
Robert Watkins, "Men Who Are Making America."
Arlene Marshall, Roget's "Thesaurus."
Charlena Colugh, a volume of Tennyson's poems.
Clarence Hazen, "The Book of Lincoln."
Jessie Moulton, a volume of Browning's poems.

The twenty-third annual banquet of the Alumni association of Barton academy was held in the vestry of the Congregational church Friday evening, June 12.

The tables were very attractive and about 100 members of the Alumni, down to the excellent banquet which was served at 8.30 o'clock by the local branch of the Red Cross.

During the evening very enjoyable

FARM BUREAU NOTES

South Albany First Community to Get Membership Quota.

Word was received at the Farm Bureau office early last week from Chairman Williams of South Albany that this community had already gone "over the top" in its membership quota. Reports continue to come in from other communities showing that the committee men and women are working hard to reach their quotas.

Chairman Emerson of Barton reports that he and R. E. Devereaux were not refused by a single man on the trip they took in their circuit. Other committee members report that they are surprised at the amount of interest which people are showing in the work of the Farm Bureau.
